MASTODON BONES

UNCOVERED IN HUDSON BAY IRRIGATION DITCH.

Are Now in the Possession of E. J. Burlingame, of Walla Walla—Mr. Burlingame Will Make Search for Further Remains of Prehistoric Monsters—One Piece of Bone Twenty Inches in Length and Six in Width.

Workmen engaged on the ditch of the Walla Walla Irrigation Company in the Hudson Bay neighborhood, yesterday unearthed a portion of the skeleton of a mastodon, or some other gigantic prehistoric creature. The bones are in the possession of E. J. Burlingame, of Walla Walla, the head of the ditch company.

One of the pieces of bone is about 20 inches in length and six inches wide. It is remarkably well preserved and has the appearance of having been split in half. It is evidently a part of the thigh, and if reproduced would be several feet in length. A second bone contains a portion of a joint.

The country several miles east of where the bones were unearthed has in the past been found to contain the bones of several mastodon skeletons. Mr. Burlingame will attempt to discover the remainder of the skeleton.

Keeps Out the Cold

The normal temperature of the body is 98.4 degrees. It is very essential to health and comfort that this temperature be maintained at all times. A chamolix vest or chest protector helps to do it.

as he believes it to be scattered through the soil where the two pieces of bone were found. The soil is soft and sandy, and the strong alkali formation is thought to have been the reason why the bones are so well preserved.

QUARANTINE RAISED.

Ten Cases Developed, Without a Fatality.

The diphtheria quarantine that has been on at the Catholic school at the Umatilla agency for the past three weeks was raised yesterday, and the premises have been fumigated. There were 10 cases under the care of Dr. T. M. Henderson among the Indian children that were immunized with anti-toxin and all fear of another epidemic of the disease has passed. Several of the patients were very ill.

Lucky Saling.

County Clerk Frank Saling was out hunting the other day and now proudly displays on his desk the left hind foot of a rabbit. He declares he killed the animal in a graveyard, and that the moon was dark when he committed the deed. "Anyhow," he declared, "I see barrels of luck ahead of me."

EAGLES' MINSTRELS

A RATTLING GOOD SHOW FROM START TO FINISH.

The End Men Were Extra Good, Introducing Some Good Novelties—Dick Lawrence Was More Than Excellent, While the Interlocutor Was Out of Sight—The Misses Parkes Added Greatly to the Interest and Entertainment.

The first night of the Eagles' minstrels has "come and went." With it there are aching sides and cheerful dispositions for the boys in burnt cork more than pleased with song, dance and joke, and the people are impatiently awaiting this evening, when they may have another opportunity to witness good home talent.

Bogert and Taylor, as the funny men, undoubtedly carried off the blue ribbon and everything else that came their way, including a few yards of hearty laugh from every one present. This team wasn't there when the curtain first came up, but their late arrival on the scene amid the discord of the orchestra was made up by their fast and furious work during the remainder of the performance.

Dick Lawrence, immaculately dressed, and quiet until his turn came, must not be overlooked. Of course it takes a little more blacking when Dick makes up than is required when one has a bushy head of hair, and a bald spot is rather hard to polish, but he appeared to like it, and sang two catchy songs just to show his good intentions. The audience showed that it appreciated his efforts by thunderous applause that greeted him.

Joe Hinkle filled the huge arm chair of the interlocutor very ably. That he would do well as the leading man of a repertoire company doing a weekly stunt in a small town, he indicated when he appeared before the curtain before the last act and announced the bill for the next evening. Even down to the "wishing you one and all a kind good night," he had the little piece.

In the olio appeared Miss Phyllis and Edie Parkes, who did a clever dance turn, and sang. J. P. McMinn entertained with a violin solo. During the first part solos were sung by the following:

William Krassig, Tom Jordan, Bert Mays and Joseph Lee. The chorus was M. A. Rader, A. J. Anderson, William Sturgis, O. E. Troutman, Lundell, White, Millard Nelson, Jr.

Those who take the part of the black face comedians are: K. J. Taylor, Thomas G. Aston, Claude Estes and Dallas O'Hara, Jay Bogert, Dick Lawrence, Harold James and Lee Drake.

Master Thomas Nelson is deserving of special mention for the part he took in the entertainment. The little fellow recited in a pleasing manner, "When Pa Shaved Off His Whiskers."

IN THE NORMAL'S INTEREST.

Legislative Delegation Posting Up for the Session.

The Umatilla county legislative delegation, consisting of Senators Smith and Pierce and Representatives Cole, Blakeley and Chamberlain, spent today looking over the affairs of the Weston Normal School, and in preparing, with the aid of President French, a schedule of the needs of the school, to be presented to the coming session of the legislature.

A comprehensive report of the past two years' work in the school was received from President French, and all the details of the school and its expenses and incomes, were thoroughly gone over with a view to fixing the amount of the appropriation needed to carry it over for the next two years. The work done by Professor French and the improvements made with the limited appropriation, have made a very favorable showing for the management, compared to other schools, of the same character, in the state.

REBEKAHS AT PILOT ROCK.

Will Organize This Evening Under Mrs. Barnett's Directions.

A lodge of the Rebekah assembly of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be instituted at Pilot Rock this evening under the direction of Mrs. E. L. Barnett, of Athens, grand president of the state. The work will be exemplified by a special degree team from Pauline Rebekah lodge of this city. Mrs. Barnett, the degree team and other members of the local lodge left Pendleton at 2 o'clock this afternoon to drive to Pilot Rock.

Mrs. Barnett last night paid an official visit to Pauline Rebekah lodge of this city. In speaking of the work of the degree team of that lodge she said: "The team is the best I have seen in any lodge in my jurisdiction."

RETURNED FROM EL PASO.

H. C. Willis of Echo, Enthusiastic Over the Result of the Irrigation Congress.

"The address of Judge S. A. Lowell of Pendleton, nominating the city of Portland for the 1905 meeting place of the irrigation congress, was the most inspiring flash of oratory heard in the El Paso convention," said H. C. Willis, who has just returned from El Paso.

"The speech of Judge Lowell won more friends for Oregon and the Lewis and Clark fair, than all the literature distributed at the congress. Idaho's representative had spoken for 37 minutes, and had shown some bitterness of feeling toward Oregon, because of the rivalry between Boise and Portland.

Judge Lowell spoke but 17 minutes, but in that time he made such an eloquent appeal to the convention, and pictured the hope of Oregon, to make a creditable showing at the Lewis and Clark fair, from all sections of the Northwest, and he did it so ably and manfully, devoid of all feeling, speaking in glowing terms of Idaho, the daughter of 'Old Oregon,' that he captured the meeting.

"The applause following his address was the loudest and longest heard at the convention. He made the only real inspiring address heard there. The delegates felt that Judge Lowell was speaking for a state, for a great historical event—and that his soul was in his words. Portland owes the winning of the 1905 convention to his individual magnetism."

Mr. Willis feels that Oregon is in favor with the government and that the prospects for government irrigation are now brighter than ever.

"LOCAL OPTION" IRRIGATION.

Representative Neil McLeod Favors the District Law.

Neil McLeod, a prominent lawyer of Elgin, and representative to the legislature from Union county, was in the city this morning on his way to Walla Walla and Pasco. He is enthusiastic over the prospects for irrigation in Washington and will locate on arid land in Franklin county. He is deeply interested in irrigation laws in Oregon and will be glad to assist in formulating a practical, broad, equitable irrigation law for the state at the coming session of the legislature.

"The requirements of the different sections of the state, differ, in this matter," said Mr. McLeod to the East Oregonian, "and what would suit Baker, Union or Umatilla county will not suit the counties in Western Oregon. Therefore, the district law which permits each locality to regulate its own irrigation affairs—a sort of local option irrigation, as it were, seems to me to be the wise way in which to handle the subject.

"There can be a general law, it is true, covering the greater features of irrigation, but in order to make every stream reclaim its fullest amount of land, and reach the greatest number of users, each little community should be allowed to regulate local questions to suit local conditions, and the present irrigation district law, it seems, is the wisest law in the statutes today, for the reason that it permits this very thing. It should be strengthened and simplified, so it can be effective to the fullest degree, in bringing about the complete reclamation of the arid lands of the state."

Suit for Cash and Horse.

In the justice court today the civil suit of B. F. Martin against L. D. Hoy is being heard before a jury. Martin is attempting to regain possession of a mare and $50 damages.

Marriage License Record.

License to marry has been issued by the county clerk to the following: Calder Otis Whitman and Edna Adair Rider, both of Athena.

Our sole knowledge of the people on other worlds and how far the people there differ from our inhabitants, can only be guessed by comparison with animal nature on this small sphere of ours. More important to us is a knowledge of ourselves. "KNOW THYSELF" was an old Greek thought. How to take care of one's own body is not so simple as some think; the human mechanism is a wonderful thing and requires watching.

One man who has done more to teach the American people how to care for their bodies than almost any other, is Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the Author of the "Common Sense Medical Adviser." He says: It is not the quantity of the food eaten which produces strength and health (for some people can keep strong on a very meagre diet), but it is how much food is absorbed and assimilated by the blood and carried to nourish every organ of the body. It is, therefore, vitally necessary for the body that the stomach be in a healthy state. If disease of the stomach, or what is called "stomach trouble," prevents proper nutrition then the heart, liver, lungs, and kidneys do not get proper food—they are not fed on rich red blood, and in consequence, begin to show signs of distress. Outwardly these signs may be pimples and eruptions on skin, pale face, sleepless nights, tired, languid feelings, or by reason of the nerves not being fed on pure blood, they become starved, and we receive a warning in the pain we call neuralgia. Rheumatism, too, is a blood disease. After years of practice and study Dr. Pierce found that an Alterative Extract, which he named "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," made from the extracts of several plants, invariably produced a tonic effect upon the system. It helped the process of absorption of the healthy elements in the food and increased the red corpuscles of the blood, as well as eliminated the poisons from the system.

Business is business. No time for headaches. Constipation causes them. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them by curing the cause. Laxative and mild.
